

ann ree colton

THE PATH OF THE SAINTS

Do ye know that the saints shall judge the world? -1 Corinthians 6:2

The Saints are the only Beings we make petition to for personal helps. We implore the Saints because they are the first Mediators to the human condition. Having suffered every human circumstance of trial and error, the Saints place all petitions of human suffering before the Lord Jesus. He, as the Mediator between the Father and man, pours down His bountiful resources into the woes and griefs of man.

The most heavy sinner condemned by his own sense of guilt, when contrite, calling upon the Saints, has begun his own pilgrimage toward becoming a Saint.

The Most High Bodhisattvas are Beings who were sainted by their world-works. The Most High Saints are celestial anointed Saints.

To come under a benign Bodhisattva is to bring world-peace. To come under a Most High Celestial Saint is to free the power of stilling the tumults in the human sensory trials.

The proof that you are in the Saint's stream is your sweetness during the time of persecution.

Job retained his sweetness during his period of persecution. He therefore came into wholeness and spirituality. Without the aid of his pseudo-sympathetic friends, he made the grade by his own innate nature based upon total faith in God. This is the true integrity when one speaks not evil of his persecutors. This is the true turning of the other cheek.

Goodness is the cement holding together the bricks of diversity. Such cement is the coagulated blood of the Saints, sacrificing that worship may endure.

Beware of those who have the hero-sickness. The heroes are those who destroy the Saints of the earth.

There can be a karmic martyrdom and a Saintly martyrdom.

The Saints have the power to overcome your bad habits. Only through the Saints can you overcome your bad habits.

Saints and Angels are part of the most active communion with God.

Even as you have an Angel for each body, you have a Saint for each body.

If you are not a good pray-er, lean on the Saints. If you are not strong in faith, lean on the Angels.

He who is reinforced by the Saints and the Angels has the battle against evil half won. There needs must be heavenly resources; the closest to man.

After the Saints and the Angels take you under their wing as protege, tasks seemingly insurmountable will be cast up on the shores of your destiny. Then will triumph and victory come; then will the true pilgrimage begin. The radiance of combined soul light of the Saints and the Angels form the rainbow through which the Omnipresence is seen and heard.

The Path of Virtue is the Path of the Saints. If you are to follow Jesus, you must look into the eye of suffering. And you must – by His Divine nature which He has passed on to you – exorcise suffering into the ecstasy of oneness with God.

The eternity system in which man dwells is a pain system. All eternity systems having a small sun are pain systems. It is through the resurrected Christ that one exorcises suffering into perception of the Infinite, the Cosmos, the Universal.

The refining processes of suffering are the initiatory processes to produce the true and eternal happiness given to man through the Everlasting Covenant of Eternal Spirit.

To walk the Path of the Saints, one is walking with the feet of Jesus in the world.

